Tara Cox: Love it - librarian, educator, mom, engineer and veteran! Thank you for sharing Marie.

Tara Cox: Go Anna!!!!

Tara Cox: Thank you Brenda!

Tara Cox: So cool Meghan, welcome!

Karen Gareis, GRG (she/her): I like the guest concept; research shows that directly interacting with a scientist or engineer is very impactful for people, kids and adults alike!

Martha I. Saladino: I love the activity with the post-it notes!

Tara Cox: Love the engagement!!

Carolyn Slivinski, STScl: what great speakers! So engaged!!

Adrienne: Great project! Well organized and fun!

Adrienne: Will you repeat this next year?

Martha I. Saladino: Thank you! That sounds like a very engaging program!

Carolyn Slivinski, STScl: How did you locate your speakers?

Zarfa: What is your degree

Zarfa: What is your favorite subject

Martha I. Saladino: Those images are amazing! ❤️

Karen Gareis, GRG (she/her): That's a great idea, the magnets!

Carolyn Slivinski, STScl: peer-to-peer sharing - great!!

Martha I. Saladino: Amazing that they were collaborating and helping others!

Tara Cox: Thank you Brenda!!

Adrienne: Tangible takeaways - magnet and certificate - great!

Tara Cox: I am in PA - I will have to bring my daughter there!!

Tara Cox: Love that you connected with the Girls Scouts

Adrienne: It's great to see how a science center/maker space can be a multigenerational lifelong destination space - like libraries!

Tara Cox: great job tying it into the girl scouts badge

Tara Cox: Thank you for sharing Meghan! It looked really successful!

Karen Gareis, GRG (she/her): Glad to hear other GS troops are reaching out!

Tara Cox: So cool!

Martha I. Saladino: Nice display for the Women in STEM posters!

Candid Mack: Please add your questions in the chat. Our Q&A is up next.

Martha I. Saladino: Thank you!!

Adrienne: Sounds great! Where did the universe in a jar activity come from?

Meghan Tanner: Reacted to "Nice display for the..." with ❤️

Tara Cox: What were your strategies for recruiting girls to participate?

Martha I. Saladino: I love your creativity!

Zarfa: What do you recommend to kids

Tara Cox: Love that!

Adrienne: Thank you again for these presentations - great to learn how GSAWN is put into action!

Karen Gareis, GRG (she/her): Thanks, presenters; it was great hearing about these engaging programs!
